

Working together with my team

The planning sheet is about working together during palliative care.

A planning sheet is a document with empty boxes a person can write or draw in to help them plan.

Palliative care is help for people who have a health condition that they will die from.

Working together with my team

You can ask for help to use this sheet.

Monday	_____
Tuesday	_____
Wednesday	_____
Thursday	_____
Friday	_____
Saturday	_____
Sunday	_____

You do not need to fill out all the information at the same time.

 Please fill in this easy read form
Your name Joe
Address _____
Phone _____

Monday	_____
Tuesday	_____
Wednesday	_____
Thursday	_____
Friday	_____
Saturday	_____
Sunday	_____

Information can be added at any time.

The planning sheet should be used by

- You

- Your palliative care team

Your palliative care team are health workers that might include doctors and nurses.

- Your supporters

Supporters are people that help with care or daily life.

- Other health workers supporting you.

This planning sheet can help the different people that support a person during palliative care to work together.

Not bold

Bold

There are some words in bold in this story.

Bold means the letters are thicker and darker.

We explain what these words in bold mean.

The people that might help during palliative care

The people that support a person during palliative care may include

- Carers

- Family members

- Friends

- Guardians

A guardian is a person who helps someone make decisions about parts of their life when they cannot make decisions by themselves.

Working together with my team

- A palliative care team

- Disability workers

- Other health workers

Name – Preparing for palliative care

Go to - 3dn.unsw.edu.au/improving-palliative-care-resources#preparing

Who made it - 3DN

Information type - Plain English and Easy Read information sheet.

Working together with my team

How people should work together during palliative care

Everyone should work together to help a person during palliative care.

To work together a person's team might

- Discuss how they can support the person

- Make a palliative care plan together to support you.

A care plan is a list of things to help a person including things they want or do not want for their care.

Working together with my team

- Share information about the person with other health or disability workers if the person is OK with that

- Meet with the person to see how they are feeling.

Why a person's team should work together

Some people with intellectual disability say that their teams do not work well together.

Some people want their team to work together more closely to support them when they get palliative care.

How to use the planning sheet

The information below shows how to use the planning sheet.

The planning sheet has questions to fill out.

Some of these questions are for the palliative care team and supporters.

You can ask someone you trust from your team to help you contact other members of your team if you want.

Working together with my team

It is OK if you do not want to ask questions. You might be happy with how your team works together now.

You can print the planning sheet and write on it.

Or you can fill it out on your computer.

To save this form on your computer click File > Save As and rename the file.

Working together with my team – planning sheet

Add answers below.

Who is in my team?

What health workers help me now?

Try to add their names and information.

Example answer: My palliative care doctor at the hospital, my family doctor, and my physiotherapist that comes to my house.

Working together with my team

Working together with my team – planning sheet

Add answers below.

Who supports me with my daily life?

Try to add their names and information.

Example answer: I have a support worker that visits me daily and my sister comes over once a week.

Working together with my team

What does my team do now to work together? Ask your health workers or supporters if you are unsure

Example answer: My sister gets emails from my family doctor.

Working together with my team

Working together with my team – planning sheet

Add answers below.

Can my team work together more closely to help me?

Yes

No

If yes, how could my team work together to do that?

Example answer: I want my palliative care team to speak to my family doctor.

Working together with my team

Working together with my team – planning sheet

Add answers below.

Can my team share information about me with other members of my team?

Yes

No

If yes, how my team work together to do that?

Example answer: Send emails to my family and carer.

Working together with my team

Working together with my team – planning sheet

Add answers below.

Can my team make one care plan so all the information about my palliative care is together?

- Yes
- No
- I already have a care plan

If yes, who will be in charge of this plan?

If you already have a care plan, who is in charge of this plan?

Example answer: My family doctor.

Working together with my team

Working together with my team – planning sheet

If my team will meet about my palliative care

Add answers below.

How often should my team meet, how should they meet and who will organize this?

(For example teleconferencing)

Teleconferencing allows you to communicate with people online or over the phone.

You may also hear people call this telehealth or virtual care.

Example answer: I want my team to meet once a month using phone calls.

Working together with my team

Working together with my team – planning sheet

Add answers below.

How can I be included in discussions and decisions about my palliative care?

Example answer: I want to join the meetings

Working together with my team

Should any supporters be included in team meetings?

Example answer: My support person and sister should be included in all meetings about my palliative care.

Working together with my team

Working together with my team – planning sheet

Add answers below.

Other important information my team should know

A large, empty light blue rectangular area intended for writing answers.